received my first "365 Days of Shoes" calendar from a co-worker for Christmas a few years ago. Now I can't live without it. If you love shoes you will love this calendar. I have to make myself not look at the next month, and people always comment on the calendar when they're in my office. A foot wide, and a little over 2 feet tall when opened, so there is room to write on it if you want to. It's the best! 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. I Love It! By Arleen WI bought my first 365 Days of Shoes at a store the first time. It is so colorful and a delight to glance at any time you pass it. I can't wear high heels, but I do enjoy the variety of choices out there. It's a LONG calendar opened up, 28 or so inches (a standard is 24 inches opened up). There is a different shoe in each date space, and enough room in the space to write notes and schedule reminders. There are a number of shoes you may find difficulty imagining how a foot can even fit in it. So much fun! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. I LOVE SHOES By Happy Customer! I love this calendar I have it on the wall in my office at work; it's a great conversation piece, everyone that sees it is fascinated. My sister got me one last year from a bookstore so I thought I would check for the new year... I'm so glad I found it. I now have a new yearly tradition. The pictures are vivid and the shoes are runway ready!

It's the obsessive calendar for the obsessive shoe lover, packed with day after day of head-turning style. There's Jerome C. Rousseau's vivid beaded peep-toe bootie. A fur-lined pump from Manolo Blahnik. Aperl's suede fringe stiletto. Plus more shoes: the avantgarde, the whimsical, the sophisticated, the sexy, the one-of-a-kind, the utterly showstopping from Giuseppe Zanotti, United Nude, Stuart Weitzman, and other top designers. It's like looking in your closet and discovering a glamorous new pair for every day of the year. Adapted from Linda O'Keefe's international bestseller Shoes.
