From Brand: Puzzlewright : Absolutely Nasty Crosswords Level 2 (Absolutely Nasty Series) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Absolutely Nasty Crosswords Level 2 (Absolutely Nasty Series):

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. No, not nearly nastyBy BookerDAbsolutely not nasty. At best these are Tuesday/Wednesday level of difficulty by NYTimes standard. Plus some of them are quite old, which isn't all bad unless the clues are contemporary to their publication rather than timeless. If you're looking for really tough crosswords, Newman's collections in my experience are not, in my two-volume experience, challenging, let alone tough. I won't be fooled again into buying a collection expecting the high quality Newman brings to his "Saturday Stumper" puzzles.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. A lot of fun to doBy J. WhiteA few of the puzzles are not that difficult, but most are. You definitely have to get inside of the obviously quirky minds of some of the puzzle-writers. A lot of fun to do.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. One StarBy Rita ColemanNot difficult at all.

These brain-bashing crosswords take nasty to the second level. Solvers who find ordinary puzzles laughably easy will smile happily at the super-stimulating challenge devised by the great Stanley Newman!

About the AuthorStanley Newman, crossword editor for the Long Island newspaper Newsday, is syndicated worldwide to more than 100 daily, Sunday, and Internet newspapers. His puzzles have appeared regularly in Prevention, People, Sport, and Businessweek magazines. Newman has written or edited more than 125 books and organized and conducted many puzzle and trivia events in the United States, including four seminars at the Smithsonian Institution and, in 2007, the first crossword tournament ever held at Yale University. He lives in New York with his wife and has three grown children.
