Dan R. Lynch, Bob Lynch : Agates of Lake Superior Playing Cards (Nature's Wild Cards) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Agates of Lake Superior Playing Cards (Nature's Wild Cards):

5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. Neat idea. By tripleduals My major complaint with these cards are that there is not a different specimen for each of the 13 categories of agate shown. Another words, you get the same rock for all the 10s, not like in this picture where it looks like they are different. I had hoped to see 4 different ones of each type. The picture needs to be changed as it is extremely misleading. Just as I said for the rock cards, the quality won't last like a Bicycle card will.4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Not Good For Actually Playing Cards WithBy YLWhile the pictures are nice and colorful, the cards are very flimsy and paper like. Don't recommend at all. Was very disappointed in the quality. Too flimsy to actually play use.2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. The Jokers are a hoot!By Rocky1The Lynch's "Agates of Lake Superior Playing Cards" are cool. They show and identify 13 beautifully photographed agate types. These photos and hundreds more can be found in the excellent and very affordable book "Agates of Lake Superior - Stunning Varieties and How They Are Formed".

Play cards and learn about agates!Theres nothing like a Lake Superior Agate in all its banded glory. Based on the Agates of Lake Superior book by Dan R. Lynch and Bob Lynch, this gorgeous deck of playing cards features 13 amazing photographs of agatesincluding the Floater Agate, Fortification Agate, Eye Agate, and morewhich make up the suits. All featured agates are applicable for Lake Superior. Rock hounds are sure to love these beautiful playing cards, and the deck is a fun and thoughtful gift.

About the AuthorDan R. Lynch has a degree in graphic design with emphasis on photography from the University of Minnesota Duluth. But before his love of art and writing came a passion for rocks and minerals, developed during his lifetime growing up in his parents rock shop in Two Harbors, Minnesota. Combining the two aspects of his life seemed a natural choice, and he enjoys researching, writing about, and taking photographs of rocks and minerals. He currently lives in Madison, Wisconsin, with his wife, Julie, where he works as a writer and photographer.Bob Lynch is a lapidary and jeweler in Two Harbors, Minnesota. Bob has made a name for himself as a highly acclaimed agate polisher and as an expert resource for curious collectors seeking advice. He and his wife keep Agate City Rocks and Gifts open year-round and are the leading source for Lake Superior agates, with more on display and for sale than any other shop in the country.
