Celebrity red carpet eye candyBy Serena LeeIf you can't get enough of the Hollywood red carpet and seeing what the stars wear, this is the book for you. It covers 21 years - from 1987 to 2008 - of celebrity award shows, movie premieres, and parties. Given the range of events, the range of outfits vary, from the casual to the very formal. The book is divided by year, and it's fun to see how fashions and hairstyles have evolved over the course of 21 years and how some stars looked at the beginning of their careers to what they look like now. My only quibble with this book is the lack of text. While I understand that this book is the work of a photographer, it would have been nice to read some text - even a little bit - about the events, stars, and/or fashions covered. But if what you're looking for is page after page of Hollywood eye candy, you will definitely love this book.2

The book has great pictures and it's nice to see how fashion has changed in the past 20 years. 4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Red Carpet - Frank Trapper (Welcome Books) By BlogOnBooks With award season well behind us, we thought it would be fun to take a look back at the pomp and circumstance, the fashion and glamour that is the ritual known as the Hollywood Red Carpet. In his recently updated 'Red Carpet: 21 Years of Fame and Fashion' photojournalist Frank Trapper brings us highlights of all the glitz and glamour that is the modern day red carpet ceremony. Photographing the Hollywood scene for more than 30 years for the likes of People, Us Weekly, GQ, Entertainment Weekly and others, Trapper has seen more than his share of these kind of events and they are all captured here over the last 21 years. What makes this 532 page/1,000 photo volume interesting is the evolution of certain celebrities over time. Early in the book we see a teenage Angelina Jolie entering the awards with her famous father actor Jon Voight, former celebrity couples like Brad Pitt and Jennifer Aniston and a series of fresh faced actors such as the much younger looking Mel Gibson and Hollywood hunk George Clooney. While formatted chronologically beginning in 1987, Trapper (along with editor Katrina Fried) have picked and placed numerous photos in thematic layouts designed to show similarities in fashion styles (the beige page, the striped outfit page, the flower dress page, etc.) while depicting nearly every major star of the late-century film and music eras. (From Gweneth to Jack; Billy Bob to Halle; Beyonce to Sting, with a multitude of repeat performances from the aforementioned Ms. Jolie, Drew Barrymore, SJP, etc.) Clearly, over 21 years, as the players come and go, the fashion reigns supreme, with the sometimes revealing but mostly exquisite outfits carrying the day. Even the most memorable award fashion statements - J. Lo's deep cut and taped-on green dress and Bjork's infamous swan outfit - are all featured here. The nicest thing about 'Red Carpet' is that the majority of the photographs are from the most high-end red carpet events (the Oscars, the Golden Globes and the Grammys) as the book is not watered down much by the inclusion of too many second-tier events (like parties and basic movie premieres, etc.) For fans of glamour, fashion and movie stars, 'Red Carpet' will not disappoint.

Relive 21 years of red carpet glamour in this new, updated edition of Red Carpet--an unprecedented collection of photographs by veteran celebrity photographer Frank Trapper. Trapper has had a front row seat to nearly every star-studded Tinsletown event since 1987. Now he shares this very exclusive point of view with us in a delicious runway show of nearly one thousand photographs that capture the style-makers and fabulous fads; the A-listers and industry insiders; the romances and rock stars - the defining moments that have made red carpet history. The ultimate treat for fashion fans and stargazers of all ages.
