ReevesBob Reeves3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. a reprint with a different titleBy Neal StarkmanCox and Rathvon are among the best puzzle constructors, but be forewarned, as it says on the copyright page: "The puzzles in this book originally appeared in First-Class Crosswords," by Cox and Rathvon. So if you've already worked on that book, don't get this one; they're the same.

Enjoy coffee with a little half and half: Half the puzzles here are the size of daily newspaper crosswords, while the other half are slightly bigger. The larger ones offer an extra challenge, more interesting vocabulary, and a rich flavor you'll want to linger over.

About the AuthorCox and Rathvon are bona fide puzzle royalty who are regular acrostic contributors to the New York Times. They write regular crosswords for the Boston Globe and cryptics for a Canadian publication, as well.
