Enjoyable but ...By Fullmoon WalkerWhile I consider myself a pretty good film trivia buffthere were too, too many references to esoteric moviesandeven more importantly, there are mistakes in the type setting that had the wrong boxes numbered in the puzzle.These errors should have been caught BEFORE the book went to print.For example, the puzzle on page 60 should embarrass the publishers, editors and the "non-existent" proof-readers0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. good activity to engage in with my elderly motherBy nom de guerremy mom used to complete the daily newspaper crosswords but has dementia now so it's been several years. she won't work on it alone but will usually take interest if we work it together. it's good for interacting with her.the reason i gave it four stars rather than five is maybe unfair - i assumed because it was an aarp (american assn of retired people) publication named "silver screen" crosswords that the crosswords would focus exclusively on old movies (the "silver screen" era) but it didn't.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great CrosswordsBy Kindle CustomerI love crossword puzzles and especially anything to do with entertainment trivia. Love this book and recommend it anyone who loves movie/TV crossword puzzles.

Hooray for Hollywood! And ditto for this star-studded collection of movie-themed crosswords, created by the editor of Newsdays nationally syndicated puzzle. Inside you'll find 50 cinematic crosswords that highlight screen legends from the recent and more distant past. Each puzzle contains a quote from one of the subjects' films, as well as fun and fascinating factoids. The above-the-title names range from Katharine Hepburn, James Cagney, and Judy Garland to contemporary Oscar winners such as Robert De Niro, Julia Roberts, and Denzel Washington. In addition, hundreds of general movie-related clues will challenge and then delight film lovers evoking vivid memories of the great screen performances that defined the golden age of film.
