Francois Berthoud, Mats Gustafson, Ruben Toledo, Beda Achermann, Paolo Roversi : Unified Message: Fashionable Photography Meets Drawing before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Unified Message: Fashionable Photography Meets Drawing:

Fashion photography and fashion drawing are not only images of creation, but creations in and of themselves-- productions of beauty, of outfit and of lifestyle. They mediate images of fashion's fast trade which, as visual statements, are long-lasting, extending well beyond the day. In Unified Message, photographers and draftsmen carry on an unusual dialogue. Pictures by three of the most important fashion photographers of our time-- Peter Lindbergh, Paolo Roversi and Alexei Hay--are questioned, commented on and extended by three fashion illustrators of international renown--Mats Gustafson, Ruben Toledo and Francois Berthoud. The communicative power of fashion is here revealed in the interplay of their respective images.

About the AuthorBeda Achermann currently works as an independent creative director. He was Creative Director of German Men's Vogue for many years.
